Dear Author / Editor,

The book proposal form has been designed to evaluate the feasibility of publishing and marketing your book.

Your proposal will be circulated among in-house editors and executives in the sales and marketing division. It may also be sent for external review before publishing decisions are taken. This process could take several weeks or a few months. We will, however, acknowledge the receipt of your proposal but the acknowledgement should not be treated as our acceptance of the proposal. Please do not send us the complete manuscript unless you have been asked to do so.

To submit a proposal, please fill in the form below by giving the accurate and detailed information, which calls for details about yourself and about the book.
